

Abstract

The present invention provides for a dual-functioning decorator coupler for insertion into a bag fabricated to hold food filling. The decorator coupler has a decorative opening and a non-decorative opening. The non-decorative opening is shaped to remain within the interior of the bag and the decorative opening is designed to extrude filling in a first decorative shape. The decorator coupler is also attachable to a decorative tip for extruding filling in a second decorative shape.

00040305 "Decorat'or"